Jonathan Forrest:
One Thing Leads to Another
February 3 - April 30, 2023

Jonathan Forrest's work has been recognized for its contributions to contemporary painting and its connections to the history of modernist abstraction in Saskatchewan and Canada. This survey exhibition follows the trajectory of Forrest's painting practice from 1985 to the present with a variety of works on paper and canvas, including works from the MJM&AG Permanent Collection. Presenting large-scale paintings dating from 1989 to the present, the exhibition also features a "wall of small" – a collection of small scale artworks spanning a thirty-five year period to offer a visual timeline of the artist's development.

Organized by the Art Gallery of Swift Current in partnership with the Moose Jaw Museum & Art Gallery; curated by Kim Houghtaling.

SATURDAY / APRIL 1, 2023 / 1:00 PM
In Conversation Series with artist, Jonathan Forrest, and curators Kim Houghtaling and Jennifer McRorie. Join us for a conversation about Jonathan Forrest's longstanding artistic practice and how it embraces Saskatchewan art history in contemporary ways.

Ted Godwin, Untitled, mixed media on matte board, 50.7 x 81.0 cm, 1962

The arts in Saskatchewan have a long, deep-rooted history in modernist abstraction. Abstract painting, in particular in this province, has a long-standing tradition that continues to influence and engage contemporary painting practices today. Presented to compliment Jonathan Forrest's exhibition, One Thing Leads to Another, in the Norma Lang Gallery, this exhibition, Plains of Abstraction, presents abstract works on paper by Saskatchewan artists housed in the MJM&AG Permanent Collection.
